The torrential rain at the July event theoretically lifted the spirits of AWD-types like Oliver Yao. Before that, however, Oliver lifted his inside rear wheel while tearing around OCCC.

Vice-Pres Report – Mikael Edstrom

June event had no major issues; the corners had to be adjusted to meet the minimums & a small wall had to be added heading towards the entrance corner
June's Sebring event utilized a modified course from the previous days' EVO School. Noise levels were noted as much lower on Turn 17 than on Turn 16. The Fence on 16 still up and RV's requested these electric outlets specifically (hence the Turn 17 placement). There were no safety issues reported/known for the event's course, however a "minor" safety issue was noted when a flat-bed safety truck hauling a damaged Corvette simply drove down the middle of the live course!

 Treasurer – Ben Turner

They say good things come to those who wait. Tell this to an autocrosser stuck in the third run group and you might get bopped in the head with a torque wrench. In autocross, you must be fast out of the box. Time not spent at 10/10ths - optimizing every nanosecond for discovery and learning - is time wasted. You get little time to go as fast as possible. While autocrosses are rarely won after the first run, you must be capable of doing so; if you're not, you must strive to get there (especially if you plan to autocross in FL in the summer). To understand, look no further than the July event at OCCC, for which results stand official with nearly an entire run group making a single run.

This month's playground was designed by Ian "I'm Not Related to Jackie" Stewart, with Quattro infusions by Justin "Pray For Rain" Cady. It was a proper autocross course: busy, requiring good vision and even better focus to meet the challenge. Accordingly, it was greeted with popularity. We had a good turnout from some SCCA regulars who play with us on occasion. And in the spirit of World Cup, countries from across the globe were represented, with drivers such as Nils Winberg, Ferdi van Teeffelen, an Engstrom and an Edstrom, Teddie Alexandrova, and Brian Smith. Such diversity had to be segregated into three run groups, with an Equalization of Opportunity Bill calling for each group to get six runs broken into two runs heats apiece. But equalization of opportunity is not the same as equalization of outcomes. The race was red flagged before most third run group drivers got a second run, while the first two run groups logged three runs. All these numbers are making me cross-eyed, but it boils down to this: Zeus cares not about fairness.

We'll begin with the lucky dogs who got three runs. Don Hosler bossed his way to his usual place atop the standings in SS. Dat Nguyen, who started his autocross career with our club during its Lockheed Martin days, cruised to the win in B Street in his MX-5. Steven Hughes would have earned a good chunk of points with his victory in the 11-car C Street, but he hasn't re-upped his membership. We're shaking our heads. Steve eked out a slim victory over a larger-than-life (literally) Greg Shumaker. All four trophy spots were nabbed by a BRZ. What a breeze. Meanwhile, Dan Sterling took time out from his court battle over his NBA team to play with the boys at MSCC.

Kim DeBower won D Street, but what's new? Buzz Thompson is creating a buzz in third spot in Tiger points coming into this month's event...as a rookie. He traded the Feraris for an MR2 and cleaned up a Miataful E Street. Jay Payson beat women and the elderly in F Street. If you switch the first letter of his first & last names, he becomes Pay Jayson.

STX featured 8 drivers, 3 Subarus, 4 Mazdas and a car once affiliated with Mazda. Bryan Heitkotter pummeled the class in his Nissan factory-backed Mazda. Teddie Alexandrova Mazda too. Nils Winberg Imprezad everybody as the top Subaru finisher.

Things in STU got really Pasterjaked up...side down. Ryan Speaks finished at the bottom end of the class...a rare result, indeed. J.G. Pasterjak, a man who measures press deadlines and race victories in hundredths of a second, closed this one by just 48 thousandths of a second. You couldn't fit a one page editorial between him and Jesse Olsen at the finish line.

SSM stood for Short but Speedy Men this month. Josh Smith knows a thing or two about bumming a co-drive with a fast driver. This month he conned his way into Jason Stroud's Z06, and quite disrespectfully beat Jason and won the class. Chris Wells also borrowed and beat, coming in a close second in class and ahead of the car owner. Scaldin' Gauldin rounded out a top three that was separated by less than a tenth of a second.

Ian Stewart was so fast that he excluded his entire class from points eligibility. Thanks to the new 107% rule, Ian's performance is rewarded with a points payout based on him being the lone car in class. That's a pat on the back and a slap in the face, if I've ever seen one!

After these drivers did their dirty work, drivers in the third run group staged their cars under ominous clouds of doom. Most of them got in a dry run before the skies opened with Zeus's fury. A few lightning bolts later, the event was halted - and later canceled - due to weather. SMST2 was affected the most, with 16 drivers, most of whom logged only one run. It pays to be fast out of the box...just ask Tiger points leader Leland Giddens, who used his cold-driver skills to win the class. If you're stamping the results with a big red UNFAIR, find peace in the fact that Leland gets points based on just a 7-car class, thanks to the 107% rule. If that doesn't do it for you, perhaps you'll find solace with this: that's racing. Meanwhile, George Bonafede captured the SMST4 win, and full class points along with it.

And just like that, the July autocross came to a premature conclusion. If you didn't have fun, at least you got wet. The battle atop Tiger points is heating up in typical fashion, with just four more opportunities to score points and claim your prizes. Next month we return to OCCC, our final event there in 2014. It will probably rain again, so leave the white t-shirts at home, fellas. Please.

Oh, and if you were in the third run group this month, you get to race free next time around.
