Member Stories

- Juney endorses iRacing with our league. It usually has 15-20 people involved in every race. Juney crashes into only a few people every race. If more people are involved, he can hit a smaller percentage of the field.
- Our VP Juney also attended race weekend in New Smyrna, which is a circle track. Main event was the Armadillo 100, which he describes as a wild west race, and the most fun thing to spectate in amateur racing.

Swap Time

- Karel has a set of miata daisy 14" wheels. Just come get em. He'll take money to, if it makes you feel better. Also has some mopar intake manifolds, used Hankook RS-4s, diesel 8-lug wheels, and several other goodies. Fire sale, all this stuff is cheap or free!!

Race Report BY Kevin Madyda

Hello all and welcome as I bring to you a not so special edition race report as this will be edition #2. Yep that's right I wasn't fired and I'm back for another race report. So sit back and enjoy the ride, even if you are victim to my ridicule.

We were back at Lake Tech, well most of us were turnout only brought 76 drivers I am just going to assume the rest forgot how to get there. The weather was fantastic not to mention we got 5 runs.

The course had quite the overlap but no complaints I heard on the overall design. The smaller turnout only allowed for 2 run groups with a nice lunch break in between for us to enjoy the food truck in attendance. Now lets take a look and possibly make fun of what happened with the in class battles...

- In CAM-C Timothy Engle did it again and slayed the rest of the competition by a margin of 2.1 seconds, sorry Juney back to the garage for more mods right?
- CAM-T we had some excitement, a tie yes we had a tie for 1st between Lorenzo Barragan and Jason McCoy with 45.294, Lorenzo would come out on top with the tie breaker being 2nd fastest run.
- In DS the mighty John Walsh was finally defeated (something I failed to do on multiple attempts with multiple vehicles) with David Lineberry bringing his Focus RS out winning the class by roughly 0.5
- ES was quite exciting Trevor Renson came out of what some can only assume was retirement after last years Tiger Championship to defeat the mighty Mark Burt, some say Mark was driving with one eye closed and an arm tied behind his back and maybe an old set of tires, but I cannot confirm nor deny such rumors.
- Troy Simpson won Novice class in his Focus RS by over 3 seconds, welcome to regular classing.
- Robert Palmblad kept up his tradition of winning SMST2 no matter the challengers, John Giddens and Sean Hughes unable to keep up with 2nd and 3rd place finishes.
- Harry Corbin continued his winning ways in SMST4, Ryan Speaks picking up 2nd.
- Adam Arencibia-Moore took revenge on Mickey Gauldin from last month with his first FTD of the year winning STR obviously also. I guess if I'm going to lose class at least its because I didn't get FTD.
- In STS surprise Matt Bradford beat Nate Adair to win class after he obviously read the last race report and couldn't take any more shame.
- Lets also not forget the lonely racers who only had themselves to beat: Dinesh Ramessar, Chris Wells, Eduardo Ramirez-Bonilla, Terry Glazar, James Martnick, Ross Hristov, Bruce VanHoozen, Carl Ramsey, Michael Moushon, Ricky Frohnerath, Mickey Gauldin. Congrats fellas not only were you 1st in class but also last!

It was great being back at Tavares, although I definitely didn't miss the dusty surface and the lack of grip it brings. We are off to The FIRM for November if you are reading this I hope to see you there, if you haven't been before buckle up for some higher speed action. Don't forget this will be the last event to collect those Tiger championship points, the current standings will be kept secret but rumor is we have a 3 horse race for the overall champ. Could it be Mark Burt? Robert Palmblad? Adam Arencibia-Moore? Or could I get my hands on the file and create havoc?
